

Executive Medical Director/Medical Health Officer, Population and Public Health

Fraser Health (FH) is responsible for the delivery of hospital and community-based health services to nearly 2 million people in 20 diverse communities from Burnaby to Fraser Canyon on the traditional territories of the Coast Salish and Nlaka'pamux Nations. The Fraser region is home to 32 First Nations communities and 6 Métis Chartered communities. Our team of nearly 45,000 staff, medical staff and volunteers is dedicated to serving our patients, families and communities to deliver on our vision: better health, best in health care.

We are seeking a passionate and innovative Executive Medical Director/Medical Health Officer (EMD/MHO) to lead and support transformational objectives in Population and Public Health throughout the Fraser Health (FH) region. As an expert physician leader, the EMD/MHO will drive forward strategic and operational planning while optimizing a community focused approach to all population and public health services. The Executive Medical Director/Medical Health Officer will be proactive and responsive to shifting services and changes in the health care system and will identify emerging issues in the local, provincial, federal and international arenas.

The EMD/MHO will serve as a Medical Health Officer (MHO) for a community in addition to leading Population & Public Health wide surveillance and EDI initiatives. Working closely with Medical Health Officers, operational Directors, Managers and other partners, the EMD/MHO will oversee a wide variety of legislative and non-legislative initiatives that promote and protect public health for the assigned area.

The Executive Medical Director/Medical Health Officer of Population and Public Health will be a clear, caring, and courageous leader who will develop and promote medical standards, education and research, and manage the organization and effectiveness of medical staff within the program.

The EMD/MHO will communicate a shared vision internally and will simultaneously champion a multi-faceted approach to knowledge translation and program evaluation initiatives that are vital to quality community and population health outcomes. By cultivating partnerships across FH and with decision making bodies in the community, senior levels of Government, the private sector, other health authorities and multi-sectoral groups, the EMD/MHO will influence policy to improve health status while advancing program-wide quality, performance monitoring and evaluation, health equity, and population health strategies.

The successful candidate will have:

- Medical Doctor degree with current licensure with the College of Physicians and Surgeons of British Columbia in Public Health and Preventive Medicine (FRCP(C));
- Ten (10) years of recent related experience involving responsibility in medical leadership, public health, operational and strategic planning;
- Proven skills in managing financial and human resources;
- Current BC Driver's License and access to personal vehicle for business-related purposes;
- An equivalent combination of education, training and experience.

The salary range for this position is CAD $115.39 - $115.39 per hour.
