

At Island Health, our Vision of excellent health and care for everyone, everywhere, every time is at the heart of everything we do. We are looking for a VICE PRESIDENT, POPULATION & PUBLIC HEALTH AND CHIEF MEDICAL HEALTH OFFICER who shares our Vision and is committed to improving population health.

Reporting to the President and Chief Executive Officer (CEO) and working closely with Island Health's Executive Leadership Team, the Vice President (VP), Population and Public Health and Chief Medical Health Officer (CMHO) leads strategy to improve population health through an equity lens for communities and residents of Vancouver Island. The successful candidate is an accomplished, innovative and well-rounded senior leader with a medical health background specific to population and public health and is eligible to be a licensed physician in British Columbia.

The VP, Population and Public Health and CMHO works as a member of the Provincial Medical Health Officers' Team to advise, develop and implement population and public health strategies for British Columbians. The successful candidate will represent Island Health on relevant provincial working groups, developing and maintaining relationships with key external partners and engaging with relevant national organizations in order to achieve Island Health's Vision. In addition, this individual will embody the commitment expressed in the Framework for Cultural Safety and Humility for First Nations in BC in their leadership of this work.
